Since its foundation in 1993 Music for Wexford has presented an impressive range of music and musicians, both Irish and international, to Wexford audiences. It is particularly interested in chamber music and in promoting young musicians at the start of their careers. The association aims to attract a wide and enthusiastic audience by promoting, each year, a concert series that is interesting, fresh and of high quality. The programmes are chosen and the concerts arranged by a highly motivated committee of volunteers. We are always happy to receive feedback from our audience about our programme.

We would like to thank the rector of St. Iberius Church and the verger Claire Verdon who make use feel so welcome. We would also like to thank our Friends whose support is vital.
